Walk The Line

Walk a mile for the life of a child.

When the Second Annual Glades March of Dimes Walkathon walkers put their best feet forward Saturday morning, they should be part of a bigger and better march than the first one last year.

Glades Walkathon coordinator Mrs. Marjorie Echols is organizing the meeting between the Blister Brigade of Pahokee and the Muck Marchers of Belle Glade again.

Mrs. Echols has had a lot more time this year to get ready for the big step and she has taken advantage of it.

She has talked many numbers of local figures into walking, some challenging others, and has arranged a number of challenges between several groups in the Glades.

She has managed to get virtually every civic group, school and social club interested in the march in some form or another and has extracted the promise the walk will be filmed by Channel 5 TV.

In short, the second walkathon promises to be bigger and better in every way...and should earn more than $11,000 earned last year for the Palm Beach County Genetics Center partially paid for by blisters raised on sore Glades feet last year.

That center is now working to cut down the number of birth defects among Palm Beach County babies, and that means Glades babies, and to help overcome those defects when they take place anywhere.

The walk is a lot of fun for most of the people taking part in it or helping with it. That's good. There's nothing in the world wrong with fun.

But the whole reason behind making the walk in the first place is to raise funds to help the kids being treated at the genetics center.

These kids, and grownups, are walking a mile...or five...or ten...or all the way, in the place of a kid who may not be able to walk at all.

If you can't walk a mile for the life of a child, pay the way for a walker who can.

How To Murder A Dog—And Call It Compassion!

Maybe I'm too simplistic.

If I've ever seen a tempest in a teapot, brewed and fermented for no other reason than politics, it's what was said and done Monday night about a couple of poor dogs, one sick and the other crippled.

These two dogs may not have realized it but they were apparently the main hope of the county politician and his dreams of empire.

Seems the Palm Beach County Veterinarian, Dr. Cecil Sutton, tried several months ago to get the city involved in a county-wide animal control program the commission wanted no part in.

To-day, the county commission was supposed to vote on as even more comprehensive animal ordinance. No what happens Monday night? A very respectable, gentleman and his wife, who said they have adopted the hobby of inspecting animal shelters in the general area, ride out to Belle Glade from the coast to complain about the dog's life at the city pound.

Before going to the commission meeting, they wandered out by the city pound and found these two poor peaches, one crippled up with mange and the other crippled that day when its owner ran over it in the family car. They asked the commissioners to murder the dogs. Well, they actually asked the city to put the dogs to sleep to get them out of their misery...and before the night was over before they from to death.

Sore thing.

I could sympathize with them because I was brought up with a feeling for animals myself and don't like to see them in pain. Well and good, but why, pray tell, should the city have to pay a veterinarian to do the job? Why, because the city's dog warden, Fred Hughes, isn't qualified.

So, we've been told. Maybe I'm a little ignorant, but how qualified do you have to be to murder a dog?

Back in the old Wild and Woolly West, when men were men and women weren't numerous enough to go around, a tall tale and a long rope provided the exit scenario for more than a few cattle rustlers.

Cattle rustling isn't dead yet but I did hear last week at another kind of thievery going on in the State of Excitement I was never really thought much about.

Would you believe tree rustlers? All serious-minded though, it seems citrus tree thievery is becoming a booming business among the knaves of modern society and citrus growers are looking for a way to stop it.

I find it hard to imagine a group of orange growers saddling up their broncos to head off a group of rustlers stealing 7-11 lemon stock before they make the Goody's line. Of course, since the St. George's River is so far away, the rustlers might stop at Indian River Gap and use a running train to change the brand from the Lazy Lemon to the

TIMELY TIP: HANG UP FAST ON OBSCENE CALLS

Hang up the phone immediately. That's what police and telephone company officials recommend if you receive an obscene or nuisance call.

Often nuisance calls are placed at random just to see what response they will get. If you give the caller no satisfaction, he usually will stop.

Most of these calls, officials report, come from a small group of misquipped people—either unsupervised youngsters, frustrated individuals or the mentally unbalanced. They get little encouragement if you refuse to listen or talk.

In case you receive annoying or anonymous calls, here are several suggestions from the U.S. Independent Telephone Association (USTIA) to keep in mind:

• Use the telephone on your own terms. Remember, you are in control of your phone so don't talk to someone unless you want to.

• Don't provide unknown callers with information such as "My husband is out of town." Instead, if an unfamiliar person asks for the man of the house, offer to take a message when he isn't home. Children and babysitters should be taught to be especially cautious.

• Don't identify yourself before recognizing the caller or asking him to identify himself.

• If the caller remains silent or simply breathes in to the phone, hang up.

• If obscene or nuisance calls persist, report the situation to your telephone company's business office. Of course, if you fear personal harm, call the police.

• If threatening calls occur—bomb threats, threats to life and property, threats of kidnapping—call the police and the phone company immediately.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police recommends that a police investigation be made if obscene or nuisance calls persist. Your local police will give you specific advice and instructions, but an important preliminary step advised by many law enforcement agencies is to keep an accurate log of such calls.

The record should list time and date, as well as a description of the caller's voice and comments, plus any background noise.

Keeping a log, the police chiefs' group says, will help determine whether there is a pattern to the calls. And establishing a pattern can be helpful in apprehending a caller.

The police department's job is to identify the caller and bring the nuisance or threat to an end. The telephone company's role, according to the Independent Telephone Association, is to identify the location and equipment being used to make the calls.

The association serves the independent telephone industry, which consists of 1,750 non-Bell System companies and more than 23 million phones throughout the country.

USTIA also points out that the telephone company will provide technical assistance and advice to the police.

It is up to the victim to help identify possible suspects, report such incidents accurately and possibly help establish a motive for the calls.

To bring an end to unwanted calls, the three parties involved—the police, the phone company, and the victim—all must cooperate.

More and more proof adds up to the conclusion that if energy crisis was man made, not natural.

And as the saying goes, "It's not nice to fool Mother Nature." Florida gets angry and threatens to take the United States to court. A big task, yes. But the mere threat of what probably an impossible task, produced 30 million gallons, gasoline out of thin air.

And what about the Arabs cutting our oil supply from the Middle East? To use a polite word—babony.

Just as much oil is reaching this country from the Middle East as it ever did. To be sure it takes a little longer because it goes to places like France first. But it still eventually reaches the United States.

Why would man want to make such a crisis seem real? Probably to take the general public's mind off other real problems.

Now, I wonder, who would be so tricky as to try a stunt like that!

State Rep. Tom Lewis was in town last Friday night for the installation of officers at the Glades Republican Club dinner. While he has been real good about not forgetting about the Glades—he has visited several times since his election—he makes no bones about his dislike of driving State Rd. 80.

Lewis seems to think, however, that State Rd. 80 is a lot further ahead of many roads around the state. He said to have a much money already designated for State Rd. 80 as there was a significant accomplishment.

Another state representative who has kept close touch with the Glades is the main speaker the Republicans imported from the coast Friday night, Rep. Bill James.

James' fear of State Rd. 80 is real too. He stuck to ginger ale for the entire evening.

James and I go back a long way—all the way back to the '60 elections when the Republicans elected their first governor since reconstruction, Claude Kirk. James was one of the Republicans from Palm Beach County who were swept into the state legislature on an overflow of anti-democratic feeling.

I say anti-democratic, because there weren't enough registered Republicans back then to hold a decent primary, let alone elect someone to office. But there were an awful lot of Demo-Kirks who crossed party lines for the first time in their lives to vote for a Republican.

Back in '66 I was bureau chief for The Miami Herald in Stuart, part of James' district. I happened to meet Bill and Jess Matthews soon after I arrived.

I had just gotten out of college and should have been ideologically liberal. But instead I had been earning my own keep the last three years in college and was fed up with the federal government's large size bites out of my paycheck.

Bill Murfin was the real architect behind the rebuilding of the Republican Party in Florida. You probably never heard of him because he was the main always behind the scenes, always behind the door that opened up into the smoke-filled room.

But he put it together and while he was doing it won an enthusiastic convert to true conservatism.

None of our Republican leaders today are true conservatives. Possibly by the time a man reaches the national political level it is impossible for him to be conservative.

I still say it would be a good idea to celebrate our 200th anniversary in 1976 by throwing out all the old and electing all the new. This country needs a fresh start.

This weekend the Glades gets to show once again how much it cares about others who can't help themselves.

The second annual Glades Walkathon gets underway Saturday morning. Hundreds of school children in the Glades will be walking between here and Pahokee to help those unable to walk—those afflicted with a crippling birth defect.

All money raised will be contributed to the March-of-Dimes. It is a worthy cause. Let's everybody get behind them.

Lanely Lane brand.

And when the guys in the white hats, led by Klansman Ken and Okechobee Olin, finally catch up with the rustlers, there's a great mental picture of the vigilantes looking for a tall cow to string the black hats up from.

Dought to make quite a plot for a movie. Give it a real original title like, "The Oxblond Incident."

Personally, I always wanted to go into the business of insuring swimming pools against theft.

Suspicious Confirmed Department.

Few I've heard had a strong hunch these doctors and doctors were hijackers who just didn't want anyone to enjoy the finer things in life.

According to a recent publication, the old saying that meat fats raise blood cholesterol is so much hogwash.

The statement says University of Georgia researchers have found that only one saturated fatty acid, caproic acid, raises cholesterol...and that acid isn't even found in meat fats. It's in coconut.

There you go. Stay away from coconuts and eat more meat. Course there's always the problem of being able to afford to buy the meat but that's another problem.

Another old wives' tale the release about down in flames is that a low fat diet is said today's pork chops, ham, loin roasts and what have you don't have any more fat than the same cuts of lamb or beef, so go ahead and eat that pork.

I still think that doctors are killjoys though. Like a friend of mine who went on a diet for years told me, "I believe the doctor smacked into my house and took an inventory of the pantry and larder. Then, whatever I liked, he said I couldn't have."

If you ever have any doubt about what his hardest at voters, get hold of a copy of Congressman Paul Rogers' current report from Congress and you'll know. It's money. According to a recent poll Rogers' office conducted, the voters may disagree about a lot of things but when their pocketbooks are affected, watch out.

Another thing that becomes obvious real quick is that people don't want to spend money on other people.

The most heated source in the report was that people didn't want to spend any money on North Vietnam.

That wasn't so surprising. Rogers' constituents don't want to spend money on foreign aid either. As a matter of fact, 88 per cent of the people polled want to reduce it.

A quick scan of the survey shows people want to spend more money on education, senior citizens, mass transportation, crime prevention, health care and pollution control.

Things they don't want to spend money on are foreign aid, subsidized housing, urban problems and minorities.

Surely, he thought, the answer must lie in the money market, international trade, perhaps. But he was not to find the answer there either. ...there he looked about him at the people of America. And he knew... America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

SUPPORT AMERICA! Anonymity

Our priceless heritage embodied in the flag of the United States, is an olive branch to all who write for the open in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. It stands for all the world to use and for all Americans to cherish. And in the traditions of Washington, Jefferson, and Madison, we, too, have a privilege, a right, and a duty. With us may disagree as to the methods, we should not disagree as to the goal - that of preserving the greatest democratic nation the world has ever known.

Our flag is a symbol, not of ambition, but of history, the history of men and women willing to live and die for it. Surely this willingness is with us still, because daily we experience some of the blessings that are ours - a free government we are Americans.

They asked the commissioners to murder the dogs. Well, they actually asked the city put the dogs to sleep to get them out of their misery...and before the night was over before they frayed to death.

Some folks.

I could sympathize with them because I was brought up with a feeling for animals myself and don't like to see them in pain. Well and good, but why, pray tell, should other people, who have adopted the baby of a dog, be responsible for the death of a dog?

Well, because the city's dog wardens, Fred Hughes, isn't qualified. So we've been told.

Maybe I'm a little ignorant, but how qualified do you have to be to murder a dog?

Back in the old Wild and Woolly West, when men were men and women weren't numerous enough to go around, a tall tree and a long rope provided the exit scenery for more than a few cattle ranchers.

Cattle rustling isn't dead yet but I did hear last week on another kind of thievery going on in the State of Excitement I had never really thought much about.

Would you believe tree rustlers?

All seriousness aside though, it seems citrus tree thievery is becoming a booming business among the leaves of modern society and citrus growers are looking for a way to stop it.

I find it hard to imagine a group of orange growers adding up their losses to head off a group of rustlers stealing 'y lemon stock before they make the Grape line.

Of course, since the St. Mary's River is so far away, the rustlers might stop at Indian River Gap and use a running iron to change the brand from the Last Lemon to the

TIMELY TIP: HANG UP FAST ON OBSCENE CALLS

Hang up the phone immediately. That's what police and telephone company officials recommend if you receive an obscene or nuisance call.

Often annoyance calls are placed at random just to see what response they will get. If you give the caller no satisfaction, he usually will stop.

In case you receive annoying or anonymous calls, here are several suggestions from the U.S. Independent Telephone Association (USTIA) to keep in mind:

- Use the telephone on your own terms. Remember, you are in control of your phone. Don't talk to someone unless you want to.

- Don't provide unknown callers with information such as, "My husband is out of town."

- Instead, if an unfamiliar person asks for the name of the house, offer to take a message when he isn't home. Children and baby-sitters should be taught to be especially cautious.

- Don't identify yourself before recognizing the caller or asking him to identify himself.

- If the caller remains silent or simply breathes in to the phone, hang up.

- If obscene or nuisance calls persist, report the situation to your telephone company's business office.

- If threatening calls occur—bomb threats, threats to life and property, threats of kidnapping—call the police and the phone company immediately.

- The International Association of Chiefs of Police recommends that a police investigation be made if obscene or nuisance calls persist. Your local police will give you specific advice and instructions, but an important preliminary step advised by many law enforcement agencies is to keep an accurate log of such calls.

- The record should list time and date, as well as a description of the caller's voice and comments, plus any background noise.

- Keeping a log, the police chiefs' group says, will help determine whether there is a pattern to the calls. And establishing a pattern can be helpful in apprehending a caller.

- The police department's job is to identify the caller and bring the nuisance or threat to an end. The telephone company's role, according to the Independent Telephone Association, is to identify the location and equipment being used to make the calls.

- USTIA also points out that the telephone company will provide technical assistance and advice to the police.

- It is up to the victim to help identify possible suspects, report each incident accurately and possibly help establish a motive for the calls.

- To bring an end to unwanted calls, the three parties involved—the police, the phone company, and the victim—all must cooperate.

More and more proof adds up to the conclusion that the energy crisis was man made, not natural.

And as the saying goes, "It's not nice to fool Mother Nature!" Florida gets angry and threatens to take the United States of America to court. A big task, yes. But the mere threat of what is probably an impossible task, produced 30 million gallons of gasoline out of thin air.

And what about the Arabs cutting our oil supply from the Middle East? To use a polite word—baloney.

Just as much oil is reaching this country from the Middle East as it ever did. To be sure it takes a little longer because it goes to places like France first. But it still eventually reaches the United States.

Why would man want to make such a crisis seem real? Probably to take the general public's mind off other real problems.

Now, I wonder, who would be so tricky as to try a stunt like that!

State Rep. Tom Lewis was in town last Friday night for the installation of officers at the Glades Republican Club dinner. While he has been real good about not forgetting about the Glades—he has visited several times since his election—he makes no bones about his dislike of driving State Rd. 80.

Lewis seems to think, however, that State Rd. 80 is a lot further ahead of many roads around the state. He said to have as much money already designated for State Rd. 80 as there was is a significant accomplishment.

Another state representative who has kept close touch with the Glades is the main speaker the Republicans imported from the coast Friday night, Rep. Bill James.

James' fear of State Rd. 80 is real too. He stuck to ginger ale for the entire evening.

James and I go back a long way—all the way back to the '66 elections when the Republicans elected their first governor since reconstruction, Claude Kirk. James was one of six Republicans from Palm Beach County who were swept into the state legislature on an overflow of anti-democratic feeling.

I say anti-democratic, because there weren't enough registered Republicans back then to hold a decent primary, let alone elect someone to office. But there were an awful lot of Demo-Kirks who crossed party lines for the first time in their lives to vote for a Republican.

Back in '66 I was bureau chief for the Miami Herald in Stuart—part of James' district. I happened to meet Bill and Jean Mathis soon after I arrived.

I had just gotten out of college and should have been ideologically liberal. But instead I had been earning my own keep the last three years in college and was fed up with the federal government's large size bites out of my paycheck.

Bill Mathis was the real architect behind the rebuilding of the Republican Party in Florida. You probably never heard of him because he was the man always behind the scene, always behind the door that opened up into the smoke-filled room.

But he put it together and while he was doing it won an enthusiastic convert to true conservatism.

None of our Republican leaders today are true conservatives. Possibly by the time a man reaches the national political level it is impossible for him to be conservative.

I still say it would be a good idea to celebrate our 200th anniversary in 1976 by throwing out all the old and electing all the new. This country needs a fresh start.

This weekend the Glades gets to show once again how much it cares about others who can't help themselves.

The second annual Glades Walkathon gets underway Saturday morning. Hundreds of school children in the Glades will be walking between here and Pahokee to help those unable to walk—those afflicted with a crippling birth defect.

All money raised will be contributed to the March-of-Dimes. It is a worthy cause. Let's everybody get behind them.

Lemony Lime brand. And when the guys in the white hats, led by Kinsimnee Ken and Okechobee Olin, finally catch up with the rustlers, there's a great mental picture of the vigilantes looking for a tall cow to string the black hats up from.

Ogle to make quite a plot for a movie. Give it a real original title like, "The Oxblond Incident."

Personally, I always wanted to go into the business of insuring swimming pools against theft.

Suspicious Confirmed Department. I've always had a strong hunch those doctors and dieters were hillyhoys who just didn't want anyone to enjoy the finer things in life.

According to a recent publication, the old saying that meat fat raises blood cholesterol is so much hogwash. The statement says University of Georgia researchers have found that only one saturated fatty acid, arachidic acid, raises cholesterol...and that acid isn't even found in meat fat. It's in coconut.

There you go—stay away from coconuts and eat more beef. Cause that's always the problem of being able to afford to buy the most but that's another problem.

Another old wives' tale the rustlers down in flames is that a low fat diet contain pain.

I said today's pork chops, ham, loin roasts and what have you don't have any more fat than the same cuts of lamb or beef, so go ahead and eat that pork.

I still think that doctors are hillyhoys, though.

Like a friend of mine who went on a diet for years told me, "I believe the doctor sneaked into my house and took an inventory of the pantry and larder. Then, whenever I liked, he said I couldn't have."

If you ever have any doubt about what hits hardest at voters, get hold of a copy of Congressman Paul Rogers' current report from Congress and you'll know. It's money.

Accord to a recent poll Rogers' office conducted, the voters say money should be of things but when their pocketbooks are affected, which one?

Another thing that becomes obvious real quick is that people don't want to spend money on other people.

The most ineptest move in the report was that people didn't want to spend any money on North Vietnam.

That wasn't an surprising Rogers' conclusion didn't want to spend money on foreign aid either. As a matter of fact, 82 per cent of the people polled want to reduce it.

A quick scan of the survey shows people want to spend more money on education, senior citizens, mass transportation, crime prevention, health care and pollution control.

Things they don't want to spend money on are foreign aid, subsidized housing, urban problems and education.

...America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

SUPPORT AMERICA! Anytime

Our priceless heritage embodied in the flag of the United States, is as free today as it was when written for the ages in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. It stands for all the world to see and for all Americans to cherish. And in the traditions of Washington, Jefferson, and Hamilton, we have a privilege, a right, and a duty. While we may disagree as to the methods, we should not disagree as to the goal—that of preserving the greatest democratic society the world has ever known.

Our flag is a symbol, not of ambition, but of history, the history of men and women willing to live and die for it. Surely this willingness is with us still, because daily we experience more of the blessings that are ours—easy because we are Americans.

A Fun Nite For All

The five pledges and Vice President of the Ma Upsilon made plans for the active members of the chapter to enjoy Fun Nite at the Triangle Bowling Center. Handmade invitations had the information about the party printed on a paper bowling ball; then mailed in a bowling bag shaped envelope. Ray Blitch, Jim Henderson, and Dorinda Shultz all had a chance at the night's jackpot, but all lost. Paul Oren and Ariha Keene were the high money winners of the night. The high scoring man and

The Board of Directors of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce held its first February meeting Tuesday the 12th at the Chamber building at 8 p.m.

Ten of the 12 directors were present. Guests at the meeting were: Glenn Laney, publisher of The Belle Glade Herald; Charles Ward, Chairman of Merchants Committee; Riley Foster representative of West Arvest County Board of Public Instruction.

Charles Ward appeared before the board to invite the directors to attend a merchants committee meeting being held Feb. 15 at the Civic Center. A film will be shown by Assistant Chief of Police, Bill Maithe on shoplifting and burglary.

Riley Foster spoke to the directors on career education, a program being offered by the Chamber until a later date.

Insurance Corner

A pile of policies

According to the Institute of Life Insurance, if you're average head of household, you have - in addition to a insurance - eight other policies, five of them life, remainder for protection of your family, home, or here could be overlapping coverage. With changes in life size, income, and value of possessions (especially home), there could be insufficient coverage. Insurance costs represent a sizable item in the get, so it's wise to review your policies periodically as if you're getting the coverage you need, paying premiums in the most economical way, and using dividends properly. What with the constant changes and new combinations of risk coverage, and a small print that might befuddle you, it's to your advantage to have your insurance agent help you in this way.

News From The Home Front

A MANHOLE IN THE NEW SOUTH BAY SEWER SYSTEM IS CHECKED SATURDAY by tourers Lionel LaGrow, Jim Ehlers and City Commissioners O'Neal and Berry.

Commissioners Agree On Patch Paving For Streets

Three of the four remaining South Bay City Commissioners decided during a tour of the city streets Saturday to have sewer lines crossings filled in rather than attempt to resurface full streets.

Commissioners Woodrow "Woody" O'Neal, Neal Maye and Esther Berry decided during the tour they didn't want to accept a LaGrow Irrigation, Inc. proposal to accept $10,000 savings from LaGrow's contract for the street repairs or work with the county commission.

The Saturday tour, made with Jim Ehlers of Robert Owens and Associates, the city's consulting engineers, was preceded by a tour Thursday by Miss Berry and County Commissioner E.W. "Bud" Weaver.

Miss Berry said Weaver proposed for her that the city and county survey the streets needing overall resurfacing and do the resurfacing in a joint venture.

Under this proposal, the county would pay for its responsibility (Palm Beach Avenue) and the city would pay for any other streets needing overall repaving.

The city would save funds, however, because the entire resurfacing project would be performed by one company at one time.

LaGrow said he had originally proposed to the city's engineers and John Stewart, the city's consultant, that the city resurface the six mile length of several streets because of the condition of those streets.

"When I saw the condition of the streets," LaGrow said, "I called Mr. Butcher at Owens and said, 'Bob, this is just going to be money wasted.'"

He said Ehlers and the engineers agreed and were given the go-ahead by Stewart. "But if it's the consensus of you three," LaGrow said, "that we ought to fill in the plugs, I'll issue a contract this week and we'll have a crew out here in about a week."

While on the tour, the commissioners received another warning about the problems of infiltration of ground water caused by faulty backups could bring.

O'Neal said he knew of one house that had no connection and when the tour reached that point, LaGrow pointed out the connections could be made directly into the manhole across the street from the resident.

Taking a closer look, they found the homeowner had already dug a strip across the street and connected into the manhole himself.

LaGrow and Ehlers said that such a connection, if not made properly, could allow a large amount of ground water, as well as sewage, into the lines, overworking the mains and the treatment plant.

They suggested the city draw up a set of specifications listing the only type of materials which would be allowed and to allow only licensed plumbers to make the connections.

At the commission's last meeting, the commissioners said a resident may install his own line, subject to inspection by a city inspector, but only licensed plumbers may install lines for other persons.

LaGrow and Ehlers urged the commissioners to not allow individuals to make their own connections. "You'll be doing the city a real disservice," LaGrow said.

LaGrow said the college won't just forget about the Glades students who still need rides but there are no plans now for providing transportation for them.

"Hopefully," he said, "we can coordinate car pools or make some other kind of arrangements. We're definitely willing to work on the problem with the students but the cost is too high to continue with the bus service."

Glades center registrar Freddie Harrell said the service, using a large diesel-powered coach bus, cost the college $33.85 per student per week to operate and if only those students who really needed it had been riding, the college would have been paying more than $81 per student per week.

Members of the PB/C Board of Trustees voted 3-1 at their last regular meeting to end the service after hearing only eight students ride the bus and five of those are going to the coast to study because they could not take courses they could schedule at the Glades Center.

In 30 Years He Never Lost A Rustlin' Case

Tindall To Head Them Off At The Pass

Detective Capt. Claude Tindall, who says he has never lost a cattle rustling case in court, will share some of his experience with other lawmen around the state in Orlando on

Mar. 14 and 15. Tindall heads up the Glades detachment of the Palm Beach

County Sheriff's Office and will take part in a livestock theft seminar at the invitation of State Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner.

Conner scheduled the seminar as part of an all-out bid to crack down on livestock theft this year. He said Tindall's 30 years experience will make a valuable contribution to a panel discussion.

"I've had a helluva lot of luck," Tindall said, "and never lost a case in court and never had a reversal of a conviction. I don't know how many people I have put behind bars for rustling—I'd have to check the record—but there have been a lot of them."

Tindall said he considers livestock theft to be a serious situation in Florida and a rustling case is probably the hardest on which to gain a conviction.

Tindall has worked in six counties under eight different sheriffs. His father was Sheriff Young Tindall of Ocoee County, who served from 1903 to 1933. He is a member of the Livestock Theft Committee of the Florida Cattlemen's Association and has also participated in numerous international conferences on livestock marks and brands.

Tindall has been with the Palm Beach Sheriff's Office for eight years after serving on sheriff's staffs in Ocoee, Palm Beach, Ocala and Charlotte County. Tindall was born and raised in Kissimmee in the heart of cattle country.

The livestock theft seminar is designed to bring law enforcement and livestock people from around the state together for joint discussion to outline the problem and seek ways to bring livestock theft to a halt in Florida.

Commissioner Conner said more arrests and convictions of livestock thieves will help stop rustling. Lawyers, judges and legislators will participate in the seminar with cattlemen and law enforcement people.

Woman's Lib Raked Up

Gloria Macia, a 19-year old Mercer University freshman from Belle Glade, has swapped her typewriter for a rake.

The young co-ed, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Macia of 800 E. Canal St. South, attends Mercer under the work-study program and during the fall quarter, she was a secretarial assistant in the campus buildings and grounds department.

She felt hemmed in and always was tempted by the great outdoors, so she asked for a transfer.

At the beginning of winter quarter she was assigned to grounds maintenance, and now she spends two hours a day—usually from 9-11 a.m.—pushing a rake or doing whatever other chores are assigned her.

Born in Cuba, Gloria occupied with her family from Castro's regime when she was five years old. This was in 1960 before severe restrictions on leaving Cuba were imposed, and her parents were able to fly out with so difficulty.

Her grandparents were already in the United States, and her father had attended preparatory school here, so their orientation to a new country was comparatively easy.

Gloria's father was an insurance adjuster in Cuba, and he constantly traveled between Cuba and Nicaragua. After coming to Florida, the family later went to Nicaragua to live for three years before returning to this country.

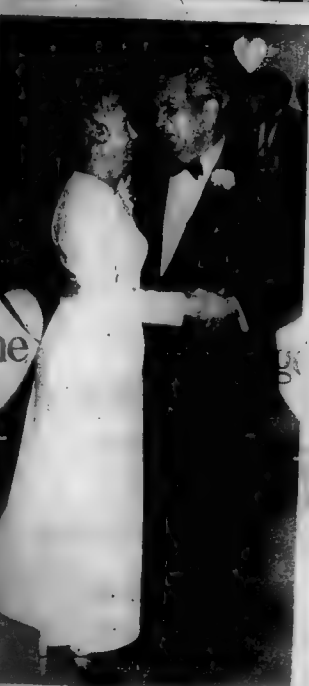

"Sure, I've taken some liking about my yard-woman job, but I really like it much better than inside work," Gloria said. "Usually the comments are lighthearted and pleasant enough, though. Guys usually do a doubletake when they see me raking away for the first time." She lists fresh air, exercise and

I find myself at other times of the day watching to see if people throw down paper and cans, and I have to restrain myself from telling them not to, do it," she said.

In the spring she will probably add weeding and some other gardening chores to her cleanup duties. And she plans to get an early, painless start on a suntan.

In the meantime she thinks it is great to be unchained from a desk and chained to a rake.

Ya Gotta Have Heart

Oh, how they danced on the night they were wed...

Mr. and Mrs. B. Dow McCloud were once again the King and Queen of Hearts for the annual Heart Ball.

The couple from Canal Point have been married for 45 years and both have survived open heart surgery.

Pictured above is Scott James Jr. of Belle Glade who was the doer prize. He was awarded a gift certificate from The Home, a new ladies dress shop in the Glades.

The Heart Ball, which was sponsored by Outfitter Iota recently this year, raised over $1500 for the Heart Fund of Palm Beach County.

Pageant Rescheduled

The Junior Miss Pageant, which includes Carolyn Johnson, above, as a contestant, has been rescheduled for Thursday, Mar. 7 at 8 p.m. at the Women's Civic Club Building on Southwest Ave. E. Mrs. Jennie Jenkins, one of the organizers of the pageant, said the date had been delayed because of unforeseen difficulties. It was originally scheduled for tonight. The other two contestants in the pageant are Miss Michelle Leland and Miss La Shanon Pyffron.

Remember what it was like when you were a kid?

These pictures ought to help you think a bit. Back then nobody cared whether you were a boy or a girl, it was just "come on and play, we need another player!"

These kids are just learning the fun and excitement in playing a game of baseball, the thrill of a ball connecting with wood and getting to base safely.

They were more than willing to ham it up for the camera but you see it's really candid shots of them when they weren't expecting it.

The March of Dimes Walkathon has come rolling around again and there's bound to be plenty of blisters feet Saturday night, probably more than last year.

Last year, there were some 300 people walking, the majority of them teenagers or younger. However most failed to live up to Grandpa's standard of walking "nine miles to school in the morning and another nine back home" as they took advantage of the "Pooped Out Pick-Up" trucks following the marchers.

According to Marjorie Echols it's 9.9 miles each way, but if I had my way it would be 10 miles from Belle Glade to Pahokee and 10 miles from Pahokee to Belle Glade, at least that's what it seemed.

I was one of the marchers last year and I wish I could say I made the whole trip but I can't. On the way back from Pahokee it seemed like for each step forward we were blown two giant leaps backward. That was a mighty gusty wind.

Halfway between the airport and Rardin Park I was blown backwards right onto a broken bottle and cut the side of my foot open. I did have shoes on but I discarded them after a mile of walking because I had two monstrous blisters on my heels.

By the time I got to Pahokee my feet were two big blisters after that hot pavement, in sheer desperation I bought a couple of washrags and bathed my feet.

With grease and vanishing determination Christy Kelsoe (my walking partner) and I started back to Belle Glade. I was then I cut my foot.

Oh well, now I can say I might have made the whole 30 miles if I hadn't cut my foot. Karen me, 19.8 miles.

It's a real hassle back we hiked a mile in the back of a truck along with a couple of large blocks of ice. That was one of the very few times I had ever wanted to take a bath in melted ice.

Three "Lone" Club members got a head start on the rest of the marchers this year.

Milton Carpenter, Bert Ward and Skipper Bowles wanted to avoid the crowd so they took off Wednesday Feb. 20 and marched from Belle Glade to Pahokee, raising around $300 for the March of Dimes.

Remember what it was like when you were a kid?

These pictures ought to help you think a bit. Back then nobody cared whether you were a boy or a girl, it was just "come on and play, we need another player!"

These kids are just learning the fun and excitement in playing a game of baseball, the thrill of a ball connecting with wood and getting to base safely.

They looked so happy and carefree I decided to grab a camera and join in the fun. They were more than willing to ham it up for the camera but you see it's really candid shots of them when they weren't expecting it.

February is truly a "heart" month. Besides Valentine's Day the community has really given an effort to help the Heart fund.

Interested citizens went out and collected for Heart Sunday, the Omicron Iota Club and the Heart Ball (all proceeds going to the Heart Fund) and even Triangle Bowling League has gotten into the spirit.

This week bowlers are striking against Heart disease as they participate in the eighth annual Heart Bowling Week which began last Monday.

League members pay $1 to bowl in their regular league competition and seventy cents is going to the Heart Fund and thirty cents to prize money.

Scores are based on regular league play for a three-game series, with each league determining its own handicap system and prize distribution.

That's all for the week, see ya.

Padres: Recuerden que además de la ropa, zapatos y alimentos sus hijos necesitan AMOR y ATENCIÓN.

Hijos: No olviden que sus padres no son perfectos, ustedes tampoco. Por lo tanto a ellos les deben AMOR y RESPETO.

La actitud de nosotros al enfrentarnos a la vida, tiene mucho que decir de nuestro éxito o fracaso en ella.

Sure it's a gamble but it's not like a crap game.

Now you know little Cindy wouldn't put the shuck on you. We do our best to get your Herald to you on time and we generally succeed but we're human and we deal with other humans who help us distribute the papers once we get them printed.

Sometimes something happens and we may not get to you on time. That happens to the best of us.

And sometimes...once in a long while, we'll get in the middle of a real foulup...like the time a couple of weeks ago when all our Belle Glade routes wound up in Fort Lauderdale.

We don't know how it happened, but it did. But we're a pretty optimistic crew here at the Herald and we always believe things are going to get better. We aim for 100 per cent success in delivering the goods and when you do that often enough, and try hard enough, you gotta hit the bullseye sometime. And when we finally do hit the bull, we're going to try to keep on hitting it as often as possible.

In the meantime, we're hitting a pretty high percentage...not 100 per cent, but close.

Life More Abundantly

PAUL K. WAVRO, C.S.B., WILL SPEAK to Belle Glade Christian Scientists Mar. 9.

The meaning of Christ's statement about coming to bring men life "more abundantly" will be explored in depth at a Christian Science public lecture in Belle Glade on Sunday, Mar. 9.

Paul K. Wavro, C.S.B., will be the speaker, under sponsorship of First Church of Christ.

The event begins at 8:15 p.m. in First Church of Christ, Scientist, S.E. Avenue E at S.E. First Street.

Title of the lecture is "The way of abundant life."

Wavro is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. He had lectured in Europe, the Caribbean and South America.

He is a recipient of the De Moley Legion of Honor for achievement in his chosen field of endeavor.

During World War II he served as a Christian Science War-time Minister, withdrawing from business to devote full time to the healing practice of Christian Science.

He has since become and authorized teacher of Christian Science and resides in Jacksonville.

Navy, Church Team Up

The Human Resource Development Project Office of the U. S. Navy has signed an agreement with the Temperance Department of the Seventh-day Adventist Church that will offer help to its personnel who want to kick the smoking habit.

The agreement enables the Counseling and Assistance Centers (CAAC) of the Navy to take over and operate the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking developed by the Adventists.

The plan, which involves five successive evenings of group therapy, has proved more than 75 per cent effective in enabling people to stop smoking, even chain smokers.

It has been held in more than 100 countries and is a continuing service of most of the hospitals operated by the U.S. Navy.

The Navy will use the control books and films produced by the church in presenting the plan and will follow the outline and principles of the plan, which advocates total abstinence rather than gradual withdrawal.

The first training session for implementers of the plan was held Jan. 22 at Norfolk with Ernest H.J. Stead and Milo C. Sawvel, director and associate director of the Adventist Temperance Department present.

Captain P.J. Hartley, Jr., project manager of the Navy's Human Resource Development Project, signed the agreement.

Captain Hartley explained that he had investigated carefully the basics of the Five-Day Plan and its effectiveness, and had decided to proceed in that direction in order to provide help to Navy personnel who wished to stop smoking.

Adventist temperance director Stead reports that the U.S. Army is using some of the church's temperance materials too. In Germany, he says, the Army is using 50 prints of an Adventist-produced film on alcoholism.

As the plan goes under way in CAAC centers across the nation, accurate records will be kept as to its effectiveness, and Five-Day Plan teams who are veterans at conducting the program will have opportunity to observe.

The plan was first held in 1960 in Taunton, Mass., with an Adventist minister, Elman Folkenberg, and physician Dr. J. Wayne McFarland working together in its presentation. Originally it was intended for small groups of around 20 to 24 people. But in some areas as many as 5,000 at a time have enrolled for the therapy sessions.

Follow-up "Alumni" meetings have been encouraged to help the ex-smokers stay off tobacco, and these have proved effective. Those who successfully complete the plan, receive small lapel pins with the initials "ID" on them, meaning, "I Don't smoke." Such pins are now beginning to show up all over the world.

Justice Now

"Justice Now," three Old Testament books in Today's English Version, is being published Friday by the American Bible Society.

The books are Hosea, Amos and Micah, prophets who were God's spokesmen to the ancient Israelites. They told of coming events. They challenged the civil and religious establishments of their day, proclaiming profound truths which have retained their relevance.

Published in paperback form, "Justice Now" is illustrated with black and white drawings by James Howard of Leonard, Minn.

This latest publication in Today's English Version is a distinctly new translation that does not conform to traditional Hebrew text in words and forms accepted as standards by people everywhere who employ English as a means of communication.

Footnotes are used to assist the reader to understand the meaning of the text, especially where ancient beliefs are expressed or alluded to.

"Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version, which was published in September, 1968, has achieved a spectacular circulation figure approaching 45 million copies. The complete Bible in Today's English Version will be published by the American Bible Society in 1974.

"Justice Now" may be ordered from the American Bible Society, Dept. S, Grand Central Station, P.O. Box 2887, New York, N.Y. 10017. The order number is 04460 and the price 10 cents per copy, including postage.

Since its founding in 1816, the American Bible Society has adhered to its original purpose: translating, publishing and distributing the Scriptures throughout the world, without doctrinal bias, at a price well within reach of every person.

Believe... Good Way to Make Good Neighbors!

Today, the world is getting even smaller, now that we're looking at it from the Moon. Looks like we've just got to be good neighbors, if we want to be good lives.

Might as well start with the folks next door. Sure their dog barks too much and too loud. But, the dog's old and the people are a bit hard of hearing. So, you might be getting older, too, and a little deaf to the bark.

Good way to make... and keep... good neighbors.

Sometimes the kids across the street whoop it up too much and turn your yard into a playground. But, they are young and their parents appear blind to their antics. Maybe you'd better be a little younger, too, or look the other way.

Good way to make... and keep... good neighbors.

That road hog who cuts in front of your car... that boss who cuts down your best efforts... that show-off who cuts up at parties. Sure they're thoughtless and careless. But, patience can turn them into good neighbors.

Belief in the Almighty Presence and Plan will soften your hard line with understanding. Belief in America and democratic ideals will give you the strength to forbear. Belief in other people will make you a good neighbor, and help make them good neighbors, too.

So, as we move in for closer looks at the Moon and planets, maybe we ought to take closer looks at the folks on our own planet.

Good way to make... and keep... good neighbors.

You'll get the idea at your place of worship this week.

From LPN To RN. An Easier Step

Now Licensed Practical Nurses (LPNs) will be able to upgrade their positions to become Registered Nurses (RNs) in less time than it previously took, thanks to a new program offered at Palm Beach Junior College.

The State Board of Nursing, Jacksonville, approved the LPN Upgrading program Wednesday, (Feb. 20), according to Miss Betty Morgan, chairman of the PBJC Nursing Department.

About 20 LPNs are prepared to start the new program in the Spring I Term, starting May 13, Miss Morgan said.

All told, 89 LPNs are taking pre-requisite courses at PBJC.

In the past, the only way and LPN could attain RN status, was to take the complete nursing program, which at PBJC takes a minimum of two years plus one semester, Miss Morgan said.

Now, after successfully taking certain pre-requisite courses, plus challenge exams for other nursing courses, Miss Morgan explained, the LPN can become an RN in ten months' time.

The program is the culmination of three and a half years of work with people in the community, with facilities of practical nursing programs and with LPNs themselves, the chairman explained.

"I think it's a wonderful opportunity for the licensed Practical Nurse who wants to take an added responsibility," Miss Morgan said.

Applicants for the program must be LPNs who meet college admission requirements and in addition have successfully passed (with a grade of at least 75 per cent), challenge exams in Fundamentals of Nursing, Obstetrics, Pediatrics and Nutrition (altogether 11 college credits).

Such pre-requisite courses as Anatomy and Physiology, Microbiology, Freshman Communications, General Psychology, Social Institutions and Political Institutions must be passed with a C.

Physical Education (if under 25 years of age), and Chemistry (if the student has not had the course within five years) are also prerequisites.

Harriet McCann of the PBJC Nursing faculty has been assigned to set up the new curriculum, Miss Morgan said.

Mrs. McCann received her RN from Cochrane School of Nursing in Yonkers, N.Y., her Bachelor's with a major in Public Health, and her Masters in Education from New York University.

She served with the Army Nurse Corps for five years.

was a staff nurse for the New Rochelle, N.Y. Health Department, and coordinated the Nursing Curriculum in Broward County Practical Nursing Program for four years before coming to PBJC in August 1973.

"Our program will be based on LEISS-Learning Experiences Guides for Nursing Students-originated by Anne Roe and Mary Sherwood two RN's in Broward County," Mrs. McCann said.

"We'll be using innovative teaching techniques, including discussions and role playing much of which is self-instructional," Mrs. McCann said.

"Individual conferences to meet a student's special needs will be an important part of our program," she added.

"because we want to build on the individual's previous nursing knowledge," she added.

Miss Morgan, Mrs. McCann, and Mrs. Edith Hall, of the Home Economic Department, who will teach Nutrition, will start the new program Thursday for the LPNs who will start the new program in Spring Term I.

ONE SMALL DRIVING GOOF WE SHOULDN'T MAKE IS DRIVING WITHOUT clearing off completely all of the car's outside windows of fog, dirt, snow or leaves. If your windows are half covered with snow or frost or even steam from the inside, you're half-blind. You don't walk around the streets with one eye so take a one-minute pit stop break and clean off that glass!

TRYING TO FIND AN AIR LEAK in your car? One very easy one to fix is the kind where air is hissing OUT of your car. This is due to having all windows closed tightly and the vent open or air conditioner or heating on high. All that air coming in must go somewhere. You can usually solve this one by opening a rear window a small crack so the air can get out without a big hiss. Yes, Virginia, there is an energy crisis. Wishing it away won't help, but driving slower, using good mileage driving habits and simply NOT driving when you don't have to, will help ease the shortage. It's going to take a small change in our driving habits, but most folks agree that might be all for the good...for us as well as for the energy problem.

THINKING LIGHT TRUCK? A lot of people are these days. They can be economical, handy, serve as your second car or only car. For the best bet in a pickup, new or used, be sure to stop by and see JIM HERRING CHEVY-OLDS in Pahokee for just the used pickup that you need.

IF YOUR BRAKES SEEMS TO BE pulling you to one side on a hard stop, check them carefully. Try a wheel skid mark test on dry pavement on a deserted street. Simply slide your wheels stopping. Then check the skid marks. Does one brake take hold before the other? If so, have your brakes adjusted and checked by an expert.
